THE STORY OF DANIEL

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 1:1-4, 19, 20; 2:17-24.

GOLDEN TEXT—They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Boy Who Obeyed.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Boy Who Obeyed.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Preparing for a Life Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Character and Career of Daniel.

I. Daniel in Captivity (1:1-4).

His captivity took place in the third year of Jehoiakim's reign by Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon. While a tender youth, he was torn from home ties and made a captive in a foreign land to be trained for court service.

II. Daniel in Training (1:5-20).

In order to be of the largest service in the kingdom, it was necessary that he be taught to love the king and nation and to be detached from his own people and religion.

1. Daily portion of the king's meat and drink appointed (v. 5).

The object of this was:

(1) To gain the good will of Daniel. Such recognition would encourage him to give himself to the king's service.

(2) To supply the proper food for his physical and intellectual growth.

2. His name changed (v. 7).

He was named Belteshazar. The object in this change was the obliteration of national and religious connections, and his identification with the Babylonian nation. Daniel means, God is my Judge. Belteshazzar means, Bel's Prince.

3. Daniel's purpose of heart (v. 8).

Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's meat and wine. He requested to be tested for ten days with the food which the law of his God allowed, agreeing to abide by the results.

4. Daniel's reward (vv. 15-20).

(1) Physical health (v. 15). The king's meat and wine would have been palatable, but to have partaken would have violated his conscience.

(2) Mental growth (vv. 17-20). He was found to be ten times wiser than the magicians and astrologers.

(3) Socially (v. 19). He was not only next to the king, but president of the college of wise men and prime minister of the empire, continuing through several dynasties (v. 21).

(4) Spiritual (v. 17).

God revealed to him Nebuchadnezzar's dream and gave visions stretching across the centuries. The secret of Daniel's success was:

a. Conscientiousness.
b. Loyalty to God.
c. Decision of character.
d. Prayerfulness.
e. Patience.
f. Courtesy.

III. Daniel Interpreting Nebuchadnezzar's Dream (2:14-46).

1. The dream revealed (vv. 14-35).

Nebuchadnezzar had a dream which made a tremendous impression on his mind, but its content had been forgotten. He urgently demanded of the wise men that they make known the dream and its interpretation. Because of their failure to do so the king was furious and commanded all the wise men of Babylon to be slain. Daniel sought an interview with the king and obtained time. In answer to prayer, God gave to Daniel the content of the dream. He told the king that in his dream he had beheld a great image with a head of gold, breast and arms of silver, belly and thighs of brass, legs of iron, and feet part of iron and part of clay. He beheld this image smitten by a stone which became a great mountain.

2. The dream interpreted (vv. 36-46).

(1) The head of gold represented the Chaldean monarchy, with Nebuchadnezzar as its head (vv. 37, 38).

(2) The breast and arms of silver represented the Medo-Persian power (v. 39).

(3) The belly and thighs of brass represented the Grecian empire under Alexander the Great (v. 39).

(4) The legs of iron represented the Roman empire (vv. 40-43).

(5) The stone cut out of the mountain (vv. 44, 45). This is the Kingdom of Heaven so graphically set forth in the New Testament.

a. The stone is Christ (Isa. 28:16; Matt. 21:42-44).

b. When did the stone strike? Observe that the impact upon this man was upon his feet (v. 34).

c. The Kingdom of Heaven is brought into realization through a great catastrophe.

Accepts Christ

We urge men to accept Christ, to accept Him now, and they say, "Well, we will think about it," or "Yes, I know it ought to be attended to." Why, you wouldn't act that way five minutes about your health or your wife's health, or your business.—Dr. Maltbie D. Babcock.

Trust the Creator

All I have seen teaches me to trust the Creator for all I have not seen.—Emerson.

WEAK SPELLS

"I was so weak," says Mrs. Josephine Cockcroft, of Woodcock, S.C., "that I was not able to do anything.

"At certain times, I suffered dreadfully with pains in my back and sides. My head would hurt—felt like it would split open. Spells of weakness would last for weeks.

"I went to Cardui. I sent for a bottle and began taking it. My case was stubborn, and at times I almost lost hope, but I could see a little improvement. At last I began to feel much better. Then I improved rapidly. For the last year I have been in better health than I ever have been before.

"I give the credit to Cardui, for after I had given it a thorough trial, I got well."

ROCKET TRIP TO MOON IS FEASIBLE

May Be Successfully Achieved, Scientists Say.

Paris.—A rocket to the moon no longer is a fantasy and one may be fired from the earth before another 12 months have rolled around, according to members of the Societe Astronomique of France.

German, American, Austrian and French scientists have been collaborating with such effectiveness that a voyage by rocket to the moon, to Mars and to Venus at last is considered theoretically practical. But the astronomers have not yet reached the point where they consider the advisability of inserting a passenger into the rocket—even if they found such a willing person.

The entire question of interplanetary navigation, which has been the preoccupation of central European scientists for many years, reached a climax at a meeting of the Societe Astronomique, when the Rep-Hirsch prize of 5,000 francs was awarded to Prof. Herman Oberth for his researches in this field.

Professor Oberth, who is a German and only thirty-five years old, has developed what are considered entirely feasible methods of escaping terrestrial attraction or gravity. The problem up to the present has been how to escape this attraction and yet not make the experiment prohibitive by excess loud of fuel.

Professor Oberth has solved this problem by constructing a double-tube rocket, emitting hydrogen and other gases at a speed of 2,500 miles a second. This speed of emission of those gases and the effect of the gases upon the surrounding atmosphere are calculated to neutralize the pull of gravity and permit the rocket to get clear of the earth.

In view of the importance of this contribution, Andre Hirsch and Robert Esnault-Pelterie, themselves pioneers in interplanetary navigation, and donors of the prize, increased the award to 10,000 francs.

Other papers, submitted by Russians, Austrians and many Germans, contributed much light to the problem. On paper went as to how to discuss the method of landing on a planet.

41 Americans Acquire British Citizenship

London.—The United States was one of the four nations which contributed the largest number of citizens to those naturalized as subjects of the king of England during the year 1928. The other three major contributors were Russia, Poland and Italy, Russia providing the greatest number of new British citizens and the United States the fewest of the four lenders.

Altogether 1,263 certificates of naturalization were granted during the year to persons who had taken the oath of allegiance to Great Britain. Men accounted for 1,115 of the total and women for 278. There were 524 Russians, 118 Poles, 66 Italians, and 41 Americans in the list.

Austria and Germany were on the tail end of the list, each supplying one new citizen to the British lists.

Nineteen persons had their certificates revoked. They were all men. Ten were Germans, five Russians and one each from Austria-Hungary, Greece, Italy, and Rumania.

Transfuse Blood From Dead to Living Person

Cluj, Rumania.—Transfusion of blood from a dead person to one on the point of death was accomplished here for the first time, it is thought.

The doctors at a local hospital joined the arm of a girl, Rosa Jancu, at the moment she had died of injuries suffered in an auto-mobile accident, to the arm of a man, George Morar, who had stabbed himself in the breast and lost most of his blood. Morar, who was regarded as dying, is now expected to recover.

Athletes Seldom Turn Criminals, Jurist Says

Cincinnati.—Athletes seldom are arraigned in criminal courts, according to Judge Edward Hurley, prominent jurist here.

Said Judge Hurley: "I've noticed this fact in the number of persons brought before me. The answer seems to be that participation in clean athletics builds self-reliance and character. A sound body usually begets a sound mind."

Six-Foot-Ten Scot Picks Canadian Fruit

Winnipeg.—Andrew Keltinghap of Lee Mathawgow, Scotland, height six feet ten and a half inches, is not the tallest man in Scotland but nearly the shortest brother of a family of six. Too shy to vote for himself, he somehow got the prize for being Scotland's tallest, and arrived as such in Winnipeg along with hundreds of other Scotland-man found himself adapted to fruit picking and chose to use his natural ability in Canada as a start toward the prosperity he has heard so much about.

Harry Whitaker

This splendid Appomattox gentleman passed away in a hospital in Cincinnati last Friday in the 38th year of his age. He was reared in this county where his parents reside. Harry was among the last American soldiers to see service in Germany and was severely gased while over seas, and never recovered.

He is survived by his wife and two children who reside in Cincinnati with her sister and where the remains of the Appomattox veteran of the world war was interred.

Miss Mildred McDearmon is on a visit to friends in Baltimore.

Mrs. W. M. Thompson paid a brief visit to her father at South Boston this week.

Mrs. J. R. Atwood and family, of Lynchburg, spent the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Gayle.

Memorial Methodist

Evangelistic services begin next Sunday morning at Memorial with a sermon by the pastor on the subject "Christianizing Christianity". At this service the doors of the church will be open for the reception of new members.

Beginning at 8 p.m and continuing through the week—nights only—Dr. Wm. Albert Wright, pastor of Centenary M. E. Church, Lynchburg, will preach. Dr. Wright is an outstanding speaker and the people of Appomattox have a rare privilege in having him with us.

Serious Charge

Aubrey McCoy Thomas, known as Joe Thomas, was arrested Tuesday and lodged in jail charged by Miss Eddith Va. Harris as having assaulted her near Vera Tuesday night. The girl says she is under 16 years of age and Mr. Thomas is 39.

At a hearing before Justice Moses here yesterday the accused was sent on to the grand jury to await the October term of Circuit Court.

On his motion for bail commissioner C. W. Smith fixed it in the penalty of $5,000, which has not been given at this time. Attorney L. F. Ferguson represented the accused.

Rev. J. M. Street

Rev. J. M. Street, for some time pastor of Piney River, Central, Emanuel and Mt. Moriah Baptist churches, died suddenly Friday night at Lowesville. Mr. Street was found dead in bed shortly after he retired. He is survived by his widow and four children, all of Amherst county. The body was taken to Forest for burial.

Mr. Street was a popular pastor of Hebron and Spout Spring churches here a few years ago and his many friends here regret to learn of his death.

Rev. A. I. Caudle Leaves Appomattox

The Appomattox Baptist Association has suffered a loss recently in loosing one of its strongest pastors to the James River Baptist Association.

Rev. A. I. Caudle, who for several years has been pastor of Spout Spring, Hebron, Red Oak and Fisher Memorial churches has recently accepted a call to Dillwyn field and located at that place.

We congratulate his newly made friends upon securing a preacher and pastor, who has a burning passion for the salvation of the lost and the spiritual growth and development of the soul.

Bro. Caudle was always ready to give his best, while with us, for any moral or spiritual enterprise. He was the originator and director of a Stewardship Campaign in our Association that resulted in much good, both to pastors and people.

While we want to register our deep regret and loss at his departure from us, we will always hold him dear to our hearts, and thank the Lord for his ministry and personality. We wish him even greater success in his new field of labor.

We are glad he is not so far away and hope his visits to old Appomattox will be frequent.

G. A. HARRIS, Pres. Pastor's Conference.
GEO. R. PANKEY, Sec'y.

Scientists Learn Facts About Feathered Tribe.

Washington.—The feathered American tourists who go south for the winter do not seek tanned skins, but they are as great gluttons for warmth and sunshine, as the men and women who busk on Florida beaches during our northern cold season.

This has been learned by Ernest G. Holt, naturalist, who is heading a National Geographic society-Carnegie museum expedition in Venezuela primarily to study bird life.

"Although Venezuela is in the tropics," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society, "its varying elevations afford a range of climates from that of the hot, semi-desert regions slightly above sea level to the cool, moist areas near the mountain tops. Well up the mountain slopes are conditions comparable to those in the eastern United States. It is there that one would expect to find the thousands of birds that fly to Venezuela annually from North America. Instead, they are found lower down in the hotter, warmer regions.

Find Many Varieties.

"Among the North American birds which Mr. Holt has found sojourning in Venezuela are redstarts, blackpoll, cerulean, golden-winged, and black-and-white warblers; summer tanagers, and even a few rose-breasted grosbeaks. They particularly like the coffee plantations, where the relatively low cohee trees are shaded by banana plants and higher forest trees. In this environment the North American visitors and their native cousins are kept busy eating the innumerable insects.

"When, in search of birds, snakes and other specimens, Mr. Holt and his party had moved over the crest of the coast range, they found themselves in a grassland country that has been made a little patch of Germany. German colonists settled in this region in 1840 and have been little affected by the Latin culture around them. Their architecture has been only slightly modified from that of the old fatherland, and only a few of the colonists have planted patches of coffee. Most of the farms are devoted to raising wheat, rye and peas, pigs and cattle. The women, kerchiefs tied about their heads, do the greater part of the field work. While most of the men have learned Spanish, practically all of the women speak only German.

Larks, Mocking Birds.

"In this unforested region meadow larks and mocking birds dominate the feathered life. These, however, are South American birds, not visitors from the states.

"Mr. Holt and his coworkers are making a careful study of the bird, reptilian and mammalian life of the various zones of Venezuela, and have collected thousands of specimens. These will be brought to the United States for use in research and museum material."

House Wreckers Dig Up Tomahawk on Old Farm

Fort Ann, N. Y.—While tearing down a part of the James Goodman house, on the George Wray farm, two miles from this village, workmen unearthed a stone tomahawk which historians believe was used by the Indians before the Revolutionary war. The weapon was only a few inches below the surface and was discovered as the ground was being leveled.

The Goodman house is one of the largest farmhouses in this part of the state. It was constructed by Colonel Wray shortly after he arrived at Fort Ann, about 1777, and acquired a large tract of land. Colonel Wray was a slave owner and the old slave pens still are to be seen in the homestead. The present owner of the farm, James Goodman, is a direct descendant of Colonel Wray.

Must Buy Ticket to Park in Australia

Washington.—Out in Melbourne, Australia, the traffic cops don't give automobile drivers tickets. They collect them, and the tickets cost a shilling.

This and portent of what conditions may be here if parking space continues to grow more scarce has reached the Commerce department from its Australian trade commissioner.

Melbourne motorists now park their cars only after presenting traffic cop collectors with colored pasteboards costing a shilling a day; five a week, one pound a month, and so on.

National Guardsmen Taught Patriotic Songs

Lowell, Mass.—With the indorsement of Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers, local National Guardsmen are receiving instructions in the singing of patriotic songs. Rehearsals are held weekly under the direction of Mrs. Frederick Bond, daughter of the first music master in Lowell public schools.

Plane Dining Service

Kansas City, Mo.—Airplane dining service has at last come. The Fred Harvey system has announced that beginning July 1 transcontinental airplane dining service will be inaugurated.
